About the Author and Illustrator: Lesley Young is a much-loved editor of famous children's tales and the author of many books for young readers. Jenny Williams's work has appeared in dozens of children's books published worldwide.

Little Red Riding Hood sets off into the woods one day to take some cakes to her sick grandmother. On the way, she stops to talk to the woodland animals, including a hedgehog, a squirrel, a rabbit... and a wily wolf. The wolf reaches the grandmother's house first, gobbles up the poor old woman, and then hides in bed waiting for Little Red Riding Hood to arrive. Will the girl notice what big eyes he has, what a long nose he has, what big ears he has, and what large teeth...? The timeless story is retold for a new generation in this supersize book. With delightful illustrations throughout, it is perfect for reading aloud to small children, or for more confident young readers to enjoy by themselves.
